About Williams

Founded in 1908, Williams (NYSE:WMB) is one of the leading energy infrastructure companies in North America. It owns and operates more than 33,000 miles of pipelines, touching approximately 30% of U.S. natural gas.

Williams operates the Transco pipeline, a 10,200-mile natural gas transportation system that extends from South Texas to New York City. Transco's deliveries account for about 10% of the natural gas consumed in the U.S.

Service to Pennsylvania

The Transco pipeline has reliably served Pennsylvania for more than 60 years, providing service to major local distribution companies such as Philadelphia Gas Works, PECO Energy, Columbia Gas, and UGI. The Transco pipeline consists of 1,017 miles of transmission pipeline in Pennsylvania, delivering approximately 30% of the total gas Pennsylvania consumed in 2015.

Midstream Operations

Williams has a significant presence in Pennsylvania, operating more than 2,300 miles of gathering pipe. Williams' midstream assets in Pennsylvania include Laurel Mountain Midstream LLC, Three Rivers Midstream LLC, Williams Field Services, Laser Northeast Gathering Company LLC and Williams Gathering & Processing.
